

Cracked by a covert CyBOS operative

The following email was sent to a sympathetic voter by the "Better No" campaign, in response to an enquiry on the "Aw Naw" web site.

On the surface, it appears to be a quite reasonable exhortation to potential campaigners, if perhaps a little overstated. But read on...

Dear Hugh,

The referendum on Independence is the biggest decision Scotland will ever make and to win it we need the biggest campaign Scotland has ever seen. In the months ahead we need to reach 4 million Scottish voters. It is a massive task and we need your help. You join us in our Big Campaign Weekend on 23-25th November?

The last couple of weeks have shown just how ruthless our opponents are. They spent thousands of pounds on a court case to cover up the fact they had lied about an Independent Scotland and the Euro. They are writing the rules of the referendum to suit themselves. And they have the full resources of the Scottish Government and a campaign war chest of millions which they will use to try to divide Scotland from the

They might have money and power but we have the Scottish people with us.

Opinion polls have shown that support for breaking up the UK has fallen since our campaign launched in the summer. We speak for the majority of Scots, but this is going to be a hard fight. We know that the votes of more than a million undecided Scots are up for grabs. Will you help us win their support?

You can link up with experienced campaigners or you can start your own campaign event in your neighbourhood. You may never have been involved in a campaign before but there will never be a more important time to stand up and be counted. We hope to see you the weekend after next, but in the meantime please keep sending us your questions, ideas and suggestions for the campaign.

A stronger Scotland, a United Kingdom

Dear Hugh,

The referendum on independence is the biggest decision Scotland will ever make and it we need the biggest and bestest campaign the world has ever seen. In the months ahead we need to scare 4 million Scottish voters, most of whom would not give us the time of day. It is a nearly impossible task, and we desperately need your help. Will you join us in our campaign Weekend on 23-25th November?

The last couple of months have shown us just how Ruthless our opponents are – they are Ruthless because Ruth and her Tory friends are solidly on our side and are funding our campaign with the help of a complete wunch of bankers in the City of London. They are denying their betters the right to set the rules of the referendum in a most unfeudal manner. And they have all 10 civil servants in the Scottish government to help them, as well as a fat cheque from the Wiers.

They might have the people on their side, and the political wisdom to run rings around us, but never forget that we control the fear.

Opinion polls have shown that support for tearing our beloved union asunder is reduced when voters are terrified of the future. We have already scared the majority of Scots, but this is going to be a hard fight. We know the nightmares of over a million as yet unafraid Scots are up for grabs. Will you help us scare them?

Campaign events where weak-minded people come together to deliver bad news, knock doors and scare people are being added to our events page every day.

You can link with our experienced scaremongers or you can start your own scare story in your neighbourhood. You may never have given a thought to politics before, and this is the time to change that. We hope to see you the weekend after next, but in the meantime keep sending us your Union Jack Facebook pictures, fat jokes and amusing dictator comparisons.
